The Klandike Said to Re Outdone by the Hudson Bay Mineral Lands.

on the east side of Hudson Bay got back this week and declare that the mineral wealth of that region puts the Klondike in the shade. The story of the discovery, or rather of the rediscovery of these mineral lands, reads almost like a romance. Some time ago a western

Canadian, J. A. Osborne, of the Rainy Lake

Herald, came into possession of an old yellow leaved diary of a former employee of the Hudson Bay Company, long ago dead. In this diary he came upon a minute description of these deposits, on the eastern shore of Hudson Bay, in the vicinity of Great and Little Whale rivers.

The account was so clear that Mr. Osborne had no difficulty in having an exploring expedition equipped by American capitalists. This expedition went north last June and the last of its members have just returned and filed claims on a large tract of valuable lands con-taining gold, silver, corper, precious stones.

nicket, from clanabar and gypsum.

The specimens of coal found there have been analyzed. It is a pure anthracite and is shown to contain 66 per cent, of earbon and 34 of ash.

It will be remembered that A. P. Low of the Dominion Geological Survey of Canada recently returned from an exploratory tour through a part of this country and reported that it is the coming mineral producing region of the American continent. These valuable deposits are already known to extend over a country at least six hundred miles long by four hundred broad. The Americans interested in its development, will, it is understood, begin operations early next season for the purpose of as-tions early next season for the purpose of ascertaining more precisely the value of the enormous wealth that they now control. For this reason they are to outfit a steamer for Hudson Bar, placing on board $100,000 worth of supplies and materials.

This vessel will have to go around by way of Hudson Straite, which is the rolute followed by the only ship of the year that reaches the various Hudson Bar Company's form England.

The explorers report that if a railway was built from Winnieg to the bar, good coal could be laid down in Manitoba for $3 to $4 a ton. The formation of the country is most peculiar and indisates that the hand is rising. The rocks regalong the shore of the bay in some places to a height of 1,500 feet. In other places there are great beaches and limestone. The layers of rock run at right angles to the rivers, looking as if the water pressure were pushing up the land. In some localities on the mainised, as well as on several of the laineds in the tay, the explorers found large deposits of from which had ovidently undersone great hear, being reduced to edg, as if a volence had been at work. Besides the from and coal, the eleposits of gold, aliver, copper, tin, &c. are described as enormous. Specimens are now being analyzed.
